

CONSPIRACY CHARGED "MASTER MIND"

WOULD BAR JUDGE FROM ALL COURTS

"Money Placed Above the Nation's Safety" Is Indictment.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 18.—Samuel Tilden Ansell, former acting judge advocate general of the army and the prisoner's legal counsel; Colonel J. M. Hunt, and Colonel C. C. Cresson were charged with a conspiracy in connection with the escape of Grover C. Bergdoll, draft evader, in a report by three of the five members of a special investigating committee filed today in the house.

Characterizing Ansell as the "master mind" in the plan by which Bergdoll was released from a military prison under guard to take up a pot of gold, the majority recommended that he be barred from practice in the courts of the nation "above whose safety and integrity he has placed gold."

A minority report filed at the same time held, however, that there was no testimony to support the charge that Ansell, through whose efforts as counsel the prisoner was released, "conspired" to effect his escape or that his motive was improper.

One republican, Representative Lurhing of Indiana, and two democrats, Johnson of Kentucky and Flood of Virginia, signed the majority report. The minority report was presented by Chairman Peters of Maine and Representative McArthur of Oregon, republicans. The majority finding was the first of the many investigation reports submitted to the house since the close of the war where a republican member joined with democrats and enabled them to file a majority view.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 18.—The majority held that Colonel Hunt, commandant of the barracks at Governor Island, from which Bergdoll set out on the errand, was directly responsible for the slacker's escape through the failure to handcuff him or provide adequate guard. The minority, after declaring that no officer of the army "knowingly took part in the conspiracy," found "grave dereliction of duty on the part of Hunt."

As a basis for criticisms of Colonel Cresson, the majority said that "as ugly as are the many phases of the whole matter, none is more defenseless than the conduct of Colonel Cresson in his pretense of prosecution of Colonel Hunt," in the trial by court martial in connection with the Bergdoll scandal. No reference to Cresson was made by the minority.

Campbell Is Exonerated

Major Bruce R. Campbell, accused by Bergdoll's mother of having accepted $5,000 to help obtain freedom for the prisoner, was exonerated by the majority. The minority reported that there was no evidence that Campbell was in any way connected with the escape but assumed that the proper military authorities "institute such investigation as may be necessary to the end that Campbell may be exonerated if not found guilty."

Dismissal from the department of Justice of Earl D. Wood, in charge of the correspondence in the Bergdoll case, for failure to transmit to the war department warning from a special agent that the prisoner was planning to escape, as recommended by the majority.

Major General Peter Harris, adjutant general of the army, who allowed Hunt to send Bergdoll under guard to the Maryland mountains to search for the gold, was charged by the minority with "primary responsibility for the situation which made possible the escape. Asserting that General Harris did not attempt to evade the responsibility, the minority held there was "no question of improper motive on his part," adding that it was "apparent his mind was readily overcome by the statement of Ansell that he would be responsible for safe return of the prisoner."

The minority criticized General Harris for suggesting to Hunt, instead of ordering, that a commissioned officer accompany the expedition.

The majority reported that the escape was "the direct result of the proposal submitted by Ansell to General Harris," and that even if Ansell did not conserve the plan he "presented it and pursued it to its accomplishment."

After the reports had been presented, Ansell's firm issued a statement attacking Representatives Johnson, Flood and Lurhing.

GLASS WORKS WILL RESUME OPERATION

All Departments to be Re-opened, the Officials Report.

All departments of the American Glass Casket company here will resume operations Monday following a partial shut-down of several months, Edward Rowland, vice-president, announced Thursday morning.

The company will employ about 75 persons and although it will not run at full capacity for a time, practically all machinery will be in operation.

In spite of depressed business conditions that struck many industries, the Glass Casket company did not shut down all its departments. Packing and shipping of products of the company was not seriously hurt, it is understood, and recently the plant has completed the first full sized glass casket of its kind ever manufactured. Work of designing and manufacturing cut glass was another department that was not discontinued.

At the present time, the American Glass Casket company is reported to have one of the most complete lines of glass products of practically all kinds in this part of the country. Raw materials for most of the work are secured from this county and resumption of work Monday is expected to be but a forerunner to a return of the company's business to complete normalcy.

JUDGE MANAGED TO DUCK OWNER OF RIPE MELON

Memories of boyhood days and the prodigal ways of youth are not easily buried—even by years of judging and assessing penalties for the crimes against society.

Never was this more clearly demonstrated, perhaps, than when two boys, who said they live near Ada, stood up yesterday before Justice of the Peace W. H. Fisher and heard a charge of stealing watermelons from a neighbor's patch read to them.

For a second they looked at each other. Then one chose himself as the speech-maker and started in to explain.

"Judge," said he, "there were four of us and we took only four melons. He said we could have 'em."

"But the charge said you took 40," the judge answered.

"It's all a mistake and I swear it," the boy said turning to his companion for an affirmation. "We're guilty of taking four and no more. If there's any punishment for taking watermelons a man gives you, let's have it."

"Young gentlemen, your trial will be September 15. You may make $50 bond each and go until then. The only difference between your experience and mine as a boy is the fact that you got caught and I didn't," Judge Fisher announced sternly.

"Me neither," the deputy sheriff said as he followed the boys out of the court room.

HALF OF TEETH LOST COULD BE SAVED, HE SAYS

MILWAUKEE, Wis., Aug. 18.—More than 50 per cent of the teeth now being extracted could be saved by proper treatment, Dr. J. F. Biddle of the University of Pittsburgh told the National Dental Association here today.

Teeth are in many cases the source of bodily ailments and their extraction has in some instances resulted in cures which seem almost miraculous," Dr. Biddle said.

"However we must not lose sight of the fact that many times teeth are sacrificed with the hope of curing almost every disease known to science.

"Undoubtedly abscessed or pulpless teeth should not be permitted to remain in the mouth if they cannot be put in a healthy condition. On the other hand all teeth in which pulp have been removed should not be removed."

Proper treatment which Dr. Biddle said would save half the teeth being pulled consisted of "infinite care on the part of the operator, strict observance of approved methods of sterilization, the verifying of results by the X-ray, and follow-up by examination and X-ray at regular intervals."

WOMEN ARE TOLD TO PUSH BATTLE

"We Cannot Lay Down Our Arms," W. C. T. U. Declares.

SAN FRANCISCO, August 18.—Women of the country were called on to give their vigorous support to law enforcement by Miss Anna A. Gordon, president of the National Woman's Christian Temperance Union, at the opening of its 48th annual convention here today.

This was the keynote struck by Miss Gordon in her address on "The Expanding Program of Our New Crusade."

"We are not discharged from our peaceful anti-alcohol warfare of the past four decades," Miss Gordon told delegates representing 500,000 W. C. T. U. members. "We cannot lay down our arms."

"Much territory remains to be possessed for our foundation principles of total abstinence and prohibition."

"We thank God for the Eighteenth Amendment that legally breaks down the bulwarks of our enemy. But today he fights in the open. He is very much alive as a law breaker and a beer bolshewik. He would like to make the W. C. T. U. believe that its warfare against alcohol is accomplished and that law enforcement need not be our great objective."

Law Makers Indifferent

"Our chief danger lies in the apathy and indifference of many good people who aided in securing the law."

An unescapable obligation, Miss Gordon declared, rests upon every law abiding citizen bravely to cooperate with the federal and state enforcement officials and to work for the election regardless of party affiliations of candidates who believe in prohibition and its enforcement.

Today she added, the United States is a vast unified laboratory where the findings and declarations of eminent European and American scientists, economists and sociologists concerning the dangers of alcoholic drink and the benefits of prohibition are being successfully tested.

"All the world is looking on," Miss Gordon said, "and will judge prohibition by the brand that is labeled 'Made in America.' To enlighten the family of nations we must help hold aloft the brightly burning torch of a well enforced, successful prohibitory law. We must still dare. Comrades, we must 'carry on.'"

Repeating on her recent trip to South America, Miss Gordon said that prohibition was a live issue in Chile, Argentina, Brazil, Paraguay and Uruguay and that the presidents of Chile and Uruguay were enlisted in the prohibition movement.

Sentiment for world disarmament, the W. C. T. U. leader declared, must "unceasingly be created and constantly kept at a white heat."

QUADRUPLETS TO VISIT AT STATE FAIR THIS FALL

OKLAHOMA CITY, Aug. 18. What will the "bunch of keys" say to the "handful of greens," when Oklahoma's two sets of quadruplet sisters meet at the state fair here, Sept. 24?

Will they organize a quadrangle union, or a society to which members must be "to the manner born?" They haven't decided, they say.

Floris, Doris, Dorothy and Dora Green, 16-year-old daughters of Mr. and Mrs. S. M. Green of Maisie, Okla., have been officially invited to see the state "on parade" at the state fair, by I. S. Mahan, general manager. They have accepted the invitation.

IRELAND DEBATES DOMINION OFFERS

Irish Republic Would Make More Sacrifice to Ulster Than England.

DUBLIN, Aug. 18.—The peace negotiations between the British government and the Irish republican leaders were not mentioned during this morning's secret session of the Dail Eireann, or Irish republican parliament, it was announced officially this afternoon.

It was the general belief that the Dail Eireann would not break off negotiations with Great Britain and it was thought that some action might be taken to approach Ulster in an effort to secure her co-operation in carrying on the conversations in London. Mr. De Valera, stated yesterday that he was ready to get in touch with the government of north Ireland and that the Irish republic would "make sacrifices to Ulster that they would never think of making to England."

The nature of the "sacrifices" to Ulster that Mr. De Valera had in mind were not disclosed yesterday but today it was believed he would reveal to his parliament the step he would advocate in bringing Ulster into accord with the Sinn Fein. Should such an agreement be reached it was indicated yesterday that new proposals to Great Britain might be made.

Possibility of calling a plebiscite by which the people of south Ireland might give their leaders a view to governing their future activities in the negotiations remained today as one of the problems of the situation.

How long the secret sessions of the Dail will last none of the deputies would venture to predict, the probability seeming to be that the private meetings will extend over the week end, with the next public meeting early next fall.

Even if Mr. De Valera's speech of yesterday with its pointed references to Ulster does not arouse Premier Lloyd George or the British authorities to action, the Dail may send a considered reply to Mr. Lloyd George's letter, announcing its decision to submit to a plebiscite, or ask the government whether it will agree to give Ireland dominion home rule of the kind outlined in the recent letter of General Smuts.

BRITISH BELIEVE OFFER TO IRISH WAS GENEROUS

LONDON, Aug. 18.—Optimism with regard to the Irish situation was still being expressed in British official circles although it was admitted that the reports from Dublin furnished scant basis for such a view. Eamonn De Valera, it was said, has not yet convinced the British of the sincerity of his uncompromising statement of the last few days, the officials being reluctant to believe that an offer which to them appeared so generous would be rejected outright.

The opinion obtains in official quarters that the Irish leaders are still playing for time and increased prestige.

As to the truce being broken and the warfare of a month ago resumed, officials stated that in their view there was not a chance of such a thing occurring.

BURNS IS APPOINTED HEAD OF DETECTIVES

WASHINGTON, Aug. 18.—Appointment of William J. Burns as director of the bureau of investigation of the department of justice was announced today by Attorney General Daugherty.

"MEXICAN BILL," HERO OF WORLD WAR IS BURIED

With no military cortege to do him honor, nor even a civilian procession to follow the simple wagon that bore his body to an isolated grave, paid for by the county, Bill Costello, whose name was until this time believed to have been Bill Estinello because of a scrawled name found in his shirt pocket shortly after he was shot in Glenwood park Sunday night, was buried Wednesday.

Since he came back with the American armies from the fields of France "Mexican Bill" has been following his old life, that of day labor at anything that would earn him an honest living. Now Bill will be seen no more going about his usual duties, clad in a suit of overalls, rough laborer's shoes, and an old black hat.

Something of Costello's war record was learned here definitely Thursday for the first time since he was murdered. Bill enlisted here May 25, 1918 and served as a first class private until Nov. 4, 1918, when he was advanced to the rank of corporal. He was overseas from July 26, 1918, to June 20, 1919 almost a year, during which time he saw action in the Meuse-Argonne offensive and on other sectors. His character was described as "excellent" in the honorable discharge received here today from Ardmore by J. D. Willoughby, of 300 West Third street, a former employer of the Mexican.

Costello was born in Brownsville, Texas, and was 26 years old at the time he enlisted.

SEIZED AUTO MAY BELONG IN TEXAS

Two Men Re-arrested on a Charge of Car Theft; Machine Described.

Arthur Clark and Walter Carroll were re-arrested by the sheriff's office this week and upon suspicion of car theft. Before they were seized the second time a car said to have been in their possession was identified by W. B. Wait, of Wichita Falls, Texas.

The two men were arrested a week ago. For several days they were held and an examination was made by officers of the Buick touring car captured with them. Then when the car was not claimed the two men were released. In less than two hours after they had left the county jail, according to Sheriff Bob Duncan, a telegram describing the car came from the sheriff's office at Wichita Falls.

Carroll was re-arrested Tuesday and Clark was taken back into custody yesterday. The latter was said to have had the automobile. Officers from Texas or the owner of the Buick probably will arrive in Ada today to take possession of the machine. At that time, if the Buick is fully identified, charges of automobile theft will be filed against the two men, it was intimated this morning.

$200 IN DAMAGE RESULT OF FIRE IN CITY TODAY

Over $200 in damage was done to furniture and the building in which it was stored Thursday morning by fire which started in a small out-house belonging to Mrs. Carney at Seventeenth and Townsend. The origin of the fire could not be learned.

The furniture had been stored in the building, which was a combined garage and barn, and was being removed at the time the fire broke out. Mrs. Carney stated that she had been in the storeroom only a few minutes before the fire was discovered and she was unable to say what caused it. Insurance was carried on both the furniture and building.

Commercial Printing with class is the kind you get at the Ada News Print Shop. Prices are as low as excellent work will justify.

M'ELREATH CASE SET FOR FRIDAY

But Hearing May Be Delayed Until Wounded Man Is Able to Talk.

Barring the inability of Joe McElreath, leading state witness, to give testimony, what promises to be one of the most interesting preliminary hearings of the year will open before Justice of the Peace, H. J. Brown Friday morning when D. C. Welch and his son, Edward, farmers, are tried on a charge of assault with intent to kill McElreath.

The alleged offense occurred on South Townsend avenue several weeks ago following a dispute which arose over McElreath's desire to take a thrashing outfit across some land that was being held by Welch. In the brief quarrel which ensued, D. C. Welch is alleged to have drawn a knife from under his arm where it was being held open and in readiness and plunged it to McElreath's heart. The wounded man walked almost two blocks and stumbled up a long flight of stairs into the local hospital before he became unconscious.

In the two weeks that followed the stabbing, Joe McElreath fought valiantly for his life. Paralysis set in because of low blood action and complications from all sides threatened the wounded man. Within less than a week, however, doctors decided that at least temporarily he had won his fight with death. Now he is slowly but surely convalescing in his home here.

Case Promises Interest

After the remarkable recovery from a wound in the heart, McElreath's appearance in court is being eagerly anticipated. It is the opinion of attending physicians, however, that he will be unable to come to the court room tomorrow and the preliminary of the two men charged with assaulting him probably will be postponed.

McElreath is mending, but somewhat slowly. Since he was able to leave the hospital almost two weeks ago perfect consciousness has been returning to him by degrees, doctors said.

Paralysis of the tongue still prevents McElreath's telling what he knows about the stabbing and circumstances that might have led up to it. Should he be able to appear in court Friday it is certain that the impediment to his speech caused by complications that have arisen since the stabbing would make his testimony unsatisfactory, it is said.

Hugo Man Snatches $20 in Bills From Cafe and Escapes

HUGO, Okla., Aug. 18.—(Special)—The sale of a common black cigar early Tuesday morning cost the Frisco Harvey House here something like $20 in good American currency.

A rather tough looking individual about 25 years of age, entered the eating house about 1 o'clock and ordered a cup of coffee, according to one of the waitresses who were on duty at the time. After drinking the coffee, he paid the bill and casually strolled to the outside of the station, apparently staring toward the business section of the city.

In a few minutes he re-entered the house and after noticing that no one was in the place, asked the waitress for a cigar.

Receiving the money she opened the cash register, when like a flash his hand went over the cigar case into the drawer and hastily grabbed some bills. Not being armed the girl was helpless and watched the stranger run out into the darkness.

No clue has been found that will lead to an arrest.

MOTHER SENDS $9.55 TO EASE CONSCIENCE

(By the Associated Press)

NEW YORK, Aug. 18.—A conscience stricken mother, who, in 1916, travelled from New York to Chicago with a child between 5 and 12 years old for whom she paid no fare, has just sent a money order for $9.55 to J. F. Shinn, general passenger agent of the Erie Railroad here.

Desiring to clear her mind of "the wrongful act," the woman told her pastor, the Rev. W. S. Hieck, of Neenah, Mich., and asked him to ascertain the amount due the railroad, with interest.

This was done and the amount forwarded and acknowledged by W. J. Moody, treasurer of the company.

INVESTIGATE SOLICITORS

Not long ago two strange men came into Ada, unannounced and unsolicited. They represented themselves as workers in the cause of Americanism. At first they did not want money, but they did want the Lions club to investigate their credentials and if found worthy to give an endorsement. Ostensibly they were working for a good cause and they had letters of recommendation from men of integrity in other towns.

One of these men came to the office of the Ada News and discussed their plans and purposes, showing the many letters of endorsement. The story did not ring true to the News, and the readers of this newspaper were not presented with a mass of supposed to be facts. Not being convinced one way or another, we said nothing. As a matter of caution, however, an interview with O. N. Walker, secretary of the Chamber of Commerce, in reference to promiscuous giving was obtained. Mr. Walker advised the citizens not to give money to solicitors for any cause whatsoever until the solicitors had received the approval of some organization or body of individuals after a thorough investigation.

These same individuals went to the Lions club and asked for an endorsement. The Lions club appointed a committee to investigate the records and report at the next meeting. The committee went through the credentials and decided to recommend the work, believing the men could do something to offset the Bolshevik propaganda that is going out from many sections of the country.

It finally developed that several others were engaged in the same kind of work, and that money was solicited from firms and individuals to carry on. So far as the News was able to learn, the solicitors gave no assurance of how or where the money would be spent.

Later two of the men were arrested, charged with small offenses. One was taken to Oklahoma City and the other, the last time we heard from him, was still in the county bastle.

We do not say the men are guilty of the charges against them. We do not say they are not upright and conscientious men. The fact, however, that immediate aid did not come to them and help them prove their innocence makes it appear that possibly they are not the loyal, self sacrificing men we were given to suppose. At least, the average person would hardly want to donate money to their cause without knowing something more.

From this experience, though we believe they obtained practically no money here, we can reap a reward. It should serve as an example of how easy we sometimes are. We believe that the Ada people want a part in every good move and take pleasure in donating their money to worthy causes. They do not want to give foolishly.

If strangers solicit money from you in the future, it would be well for you to call Mrs. Snead of the Red Cross or O. N. Walker of the Chamber of Commerce. They will likely know if the cause is worthy.

EMMA IS DISSATISFIED

Emma Goldman is described as afraid of her life in Russia, to which she was deported from this country on account of her anarchy, that she scarcely dares open her mouth. It certainly must be torture for her not to be able to talk.—Pawhuska Capital.

And yet Russia is putting into practice the very things Emma advocated here for years and which we have on more than one occasion in times past heard preached on the streets of Ada by those of her ilk who denounced everything American. Yet if the Goldman woman and the others shipped to Russia were permitted to return they would again denounce the American government and do as much as ever to bring about its destruction. It is well to leave them amid the conditions they always advocated for America.

The president has appointed Senator Lodge as a delegate to the disarmament conference. Lodge is a monumental egoist profiting by Wilson's experience with Mr. Lodge, whose vanity was the mainspring of the opposition to Wilson's treaty. The president will give him a hand and a chance to sit in the game. If there are any qualities of a real statesman and diplomat in the gentleman from Massachusetts, he will now have a superb opportunity of demonstrating same to the waiting world. The country is solidly for universal disarmament and Lodge will have all the backing it can give him. It's up to Lodge to make good.

In spite of depressed business conditions most places report that building is going steadily forward. As most building is done with borrowed money, it is evident that those who are afraid to risk their ready cash in ordinary lines of business are ready to put it up on real estate security, feeling that it is safe there.

UNCLE HAS HIS HANDS FULL ALREADY

Keep Things Moving

Hardware Age: Business is made, not born. It is a human achievement, the fruit of human endeavor, backed by human endeavor. It is reared story by story, like the buildings which house it.

When business builders cease striving, business halts, wavers, and declines. Conditions may help or hamper its advance, but the human element eventually makes or mars its progress.

This is an age of results—results gained through hard, intelligent, honest effort. Luck is only incidental. If you do not demonstrate your right to the position you hold in the business world—if you do not earn and defend that position—it is only a matter of time until someone else will occupy it. The merchant who waits for things to happen must inevitably give place to the man who makes things happen.

This year, for every dollar spent with his home merchant, the customer will expect the utmost that his dollar will buy elsewhere. It means real work for the merchant. Work in buying—work in keeping down business, work in increased service—work in constructive selling. Spasmodic effort will not suffice. Success demands steady, thorough, constant work.

If money is as tight as the pessimist says it is, why are the crowds lined up nightly in front of the motion picture shows? Why is it necessary to maintain a large clerical force to handle advance orders for tickets to the Dempsey-Carpentier contest? Are theater managers and fight promoters philanthropists?

There is no real scarcity of money. There is plenty of cash available in the United States to buy all the necessities and many of the luxuries of life. The trouble lies in the fact that money now stops, looks and listens. It wants to be persuaded. It wants to be honestly earned and fully appreciated.

IRISH MET IRISH BUT WOMAN'S WIT WON THE BATTLE

(By the Associated Press)

TULSA, Aug. 18.—Tulsa has at least one policeman who really appears to be a metropolitan officer. His name is Casey Jones. He is a large man, and struts like a same rooster. He describes his walk thus himself. Tulsa also has a woman city auditor, who is business like and Irish. Her name is Frank Seaman.

The other day Casey strolled into the city hall to get his pay check. Twirling his billy club, he sauntered to Mrs. Seaman's window, nonchalantly glancing at the ceiling and walls of the building.

"Something for you?" asked Mrs. Seaman.

"Why, er, yes, pay warrant," Casey admitted.

"What department?" Mrs. Seaman asked, in her very best business manner.

"Why, police," Casey confessed as he twirled his club, and brushed one sleeve over the shining star which hung on his chest.

"Plain clothes or regular?" Mrs. Seaman then wanted to know.

"Regular," Casey said weakly, as Mrs. Seaman's office force began to titter, but Mrs. Seaman handed him the warrant without seeing anything unusual in the situation.

Casey strode to a mirror in the rear of the hall before he departed "just to make sure," he said, that he had his uniform on.

BETTER DEAD

SUITS in the New Season's Modes

The supple quality of the soft pile fabrics so much the vogue, lends inimitable grace to the most classic of the new season's Tailleurs. Fashioned with the little flare at the sides of the coat, or showing the Cossack influence in the bloused back, the effect is doubly charming. Diversity of designs, colors and trimmings makes the Autumn presentation of Suits one of vivid interest from every angle.

Rich Fur Trimmings a Feature of These Suits

The most avid critic of them all could find no flaw in these handsome fur trimmed Suits. The softening, incredibly rich effect of beaver, mink, caracul, Persian lamb in collars and cuffs, and on pockets is delightfully feminine and increasingly approved.

Tailleurs That Surpass in Utility and Style

The simpler the lines, the smarter it becomes, once the Tailleur starts out to be classic. Little straight coat and little straight skirt, cut with correct precision and tailored with exquisite perfection, thus you achieve a degree of dress distinction never to be out-classed.

Materials are Poirer Twills, Tricotines and Velours.

Starting at $27.50 and by the easiest stages up to the very finest Suits in our stock at $97.50, we are amply ready now to serve you for Fall.

SUFFERED ALL A WOMAN COULD

Mrs. Meyer Finally Found Relief and Health in Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Orange, Cal.—"I always feel very grateful to you, as some twenty years ago three doctors said I had to have a serious operation. I had a tumor, and ulcers which would gather and break. I had displacement so badly that I could hardly sit down at times, and it seemed as if I suffered everything that a woman could suffer. Then some one advised me to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and I took it until I was cured and saved from the operation. I have told women of your wonderful medicine times without number, and I am willing that you should use these facts and my name if you like. I also used your Compound during the Change, and I can do all my own work but the heavy part, and can walk miles every day as I help my husband in the office."

—Mrs. J. H. Meyer, 412 South Orange St., Orange, California.

It is quite true that such troubles as Mrs. Meyer had may reach a stage where an operation is the only resource. On the other hand, a great many women have been restored to health by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

NUMBER AND TENURE OF FARMS IN U. S.

WASHINGTON, August 15.—The Bureau of the Census, of the Department of Commerce, announces subject to correction the preliminary figures from the 1920 census of agriculture for the United States, with comparative figures for 1910.

Of the total number of farms in the United States on January 1, 1920, as shown by the Fourteenth Census (6,448,366), 3,925,095 were operated by the owners, 68,525 by hired managers, and 2,454,746 by tenants. Of the total number of farms, 60.9 percent were operated by their owners, 1.1 percent by managers, and 38.0 percent by tenants. In 1910, 62.1 percent of the farms were operated by owners, 0.9 percent by managers, and 37 percent by tenants. The distribution in 1900 was, owners, 63.7 percent; managers 1 percent and tenants 35.3 percent; in 1890, owners and managers together, 71.6 percent; and tenants 28.4 percent; in 1880, owners and managers, 74.9 percent; and tenants, 25.6 percent. It is evident, therefore, that there has been a gradual decrease in the proportion of farms operated by their owners and a corresponding increase in the proportion operated by tenants.

Farms Operated by Their Owners

The number of farms operated by their owners in 1920 was 3,948,722. The 1920 figures given above thus show a decrease in this class of farms during the decade amounting to 23,627, or 0.6 percent.

In the census reports a distinction is made between farmers operating their own land only and farmers who hire some land in addition to that which they own. The former are classified as "full owners," the latter as "part owners."

The number of farms operated by full owners in 1920 was 3,366,546 and the number operated by part owners, 582,176. In 1910, 3,354,897 farms were reported as operated by full owners and 593,825 by part owners. There was therefore an increase of 11,649, or 0.3 percent, in the number of farms operated by full owners, and a decrease of 35,276, or 5.9 percent, in the number operated by part owners.

The states in which 80 percent or more of the farms were operated by their owners in 1920 include Maine, New Hampshire, Massachusetts, Connecticut, Nevada, Utah, Montana, Vermont, New Mexico, Wyoming, Wisconsin, Rhode Island, Idaho, West Virginia, Michigan, Arizona, Washington, and Oregon.

Farms Operated by Managers

The number of farms operated by hired managers in 1920 was 68,525, as against 58,104 in 1910, representing an increase of 10,421, or 17.9 percent. The states reporting the largest numbers of farms operated by managers were California, with 4,949; Pennsylvania, with 4,490; New York, with 4,376; Illinois, with 2,410; and Ohio, with 2,365.

Tenant Farms

The number of farms operated by tenants in 1920 was 2,454,746, as compared with 2,354,676 in 1910. The increase in tenant farms during the decade was 100,070 or 4.2 percent.

The proportion of farms operated by tenants is highest in the Southern states. The states with the largest percentage of tenant farms in 1920 were as follows: Georgia, 66.6; Mississippi, 66.1; South Carolina, 64.5; Alabama, 57.9; Louisiana, 57.1; Texas, 53.3; Arkansas, 51.3; and Oklahoma, 51.0.

IN SOLE

Poppies.

Scarlet blossoms, red-blood poppy.
Glowing flame of silken lips—
Blowing, tossing in the south-wind,
From thy heart a dew-pearl slips.

Blooming in my secret garden—
Circling pool of mirrored sky—
Canst thou know of silent crosses?
Distant fields where heroes lie?

Prickly stem amid the shadow
Flaunting crimson candles high—
Perfumed petals, sweet dream po-
tions—
Drowsing weary, mortal eye.

Burn thy fragrance, golden flower.
Floating incense o'er the grass.
Falling blooms, like dying embers—
Flare, rekindled, as they pass.

ANTI-SALOON MAN AT MEETING WITH BEER CONFEREES

(By the Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, August 18.—The presence of Wayne B. Wheeler, general counsel of the anti-saloon league, at a meeting of conferees of the anti-beer bill was characterized in the senate today by Senator Reed, democrat from Missouri, as "unwarranted and unmitigated insolence."

Senator Reed read a newspaper item saying "Wheeler had been closeted with the conferees" and asked Senator Sterling, in charge of the measure, if it were true. The latter declined to answer, saying the question was "impertinent."

"I will state, however," said Senator Sterling, "that Wayne B. Wheeler was not closeted with the conferees. He asked for a few minutes after he had concluded our work yesterday. Wheeler had nothing to do with any vote or action taken by us."

After more than two hours of debate Senator Sterling's motion to send the beer bill to the conference and to insist upon retention of the senate amendment was adopted without a record vote.

Have Bees on the Farm

I am a strong believer in the desirability of every farmer owning from one to five colonies of bees. The labor incident to the production of honey by such a number of colonies is insignificant when the value of the return is considered. It is understood, of course, that no bee owner should entertain the idea that bees will take care of themselves and that the only thing necessary for him to do is to purchase the bees and hives and then take out the honey as desired. But the point I wish particularly to make is that the outlay for materials and in labor is small if proper care is given the bees.

I do not wish to recommend that any general farmer have more than a few colonies of bees. Leave such work to the agricultural specialist. But leaving out of consideration the value of the honey made by five colonies of bees, I believe there would be a good return, particularly to those who grow alfalfa for seed, from taking care of them.

Many farmers have not succeeded with bees. Rotting-away hives are too commonly seen. This only goes to prove that unless a farmer has a liking for bees and resolves before he gets them to give them careful attention in accordance with the best instructions he may obtain, there is little chance for success with them. But, the question arises, "How many farmers succeed with anything they do not like?"

CANADIAN ROCKIES ABOUND IN LEGENDARY LORE

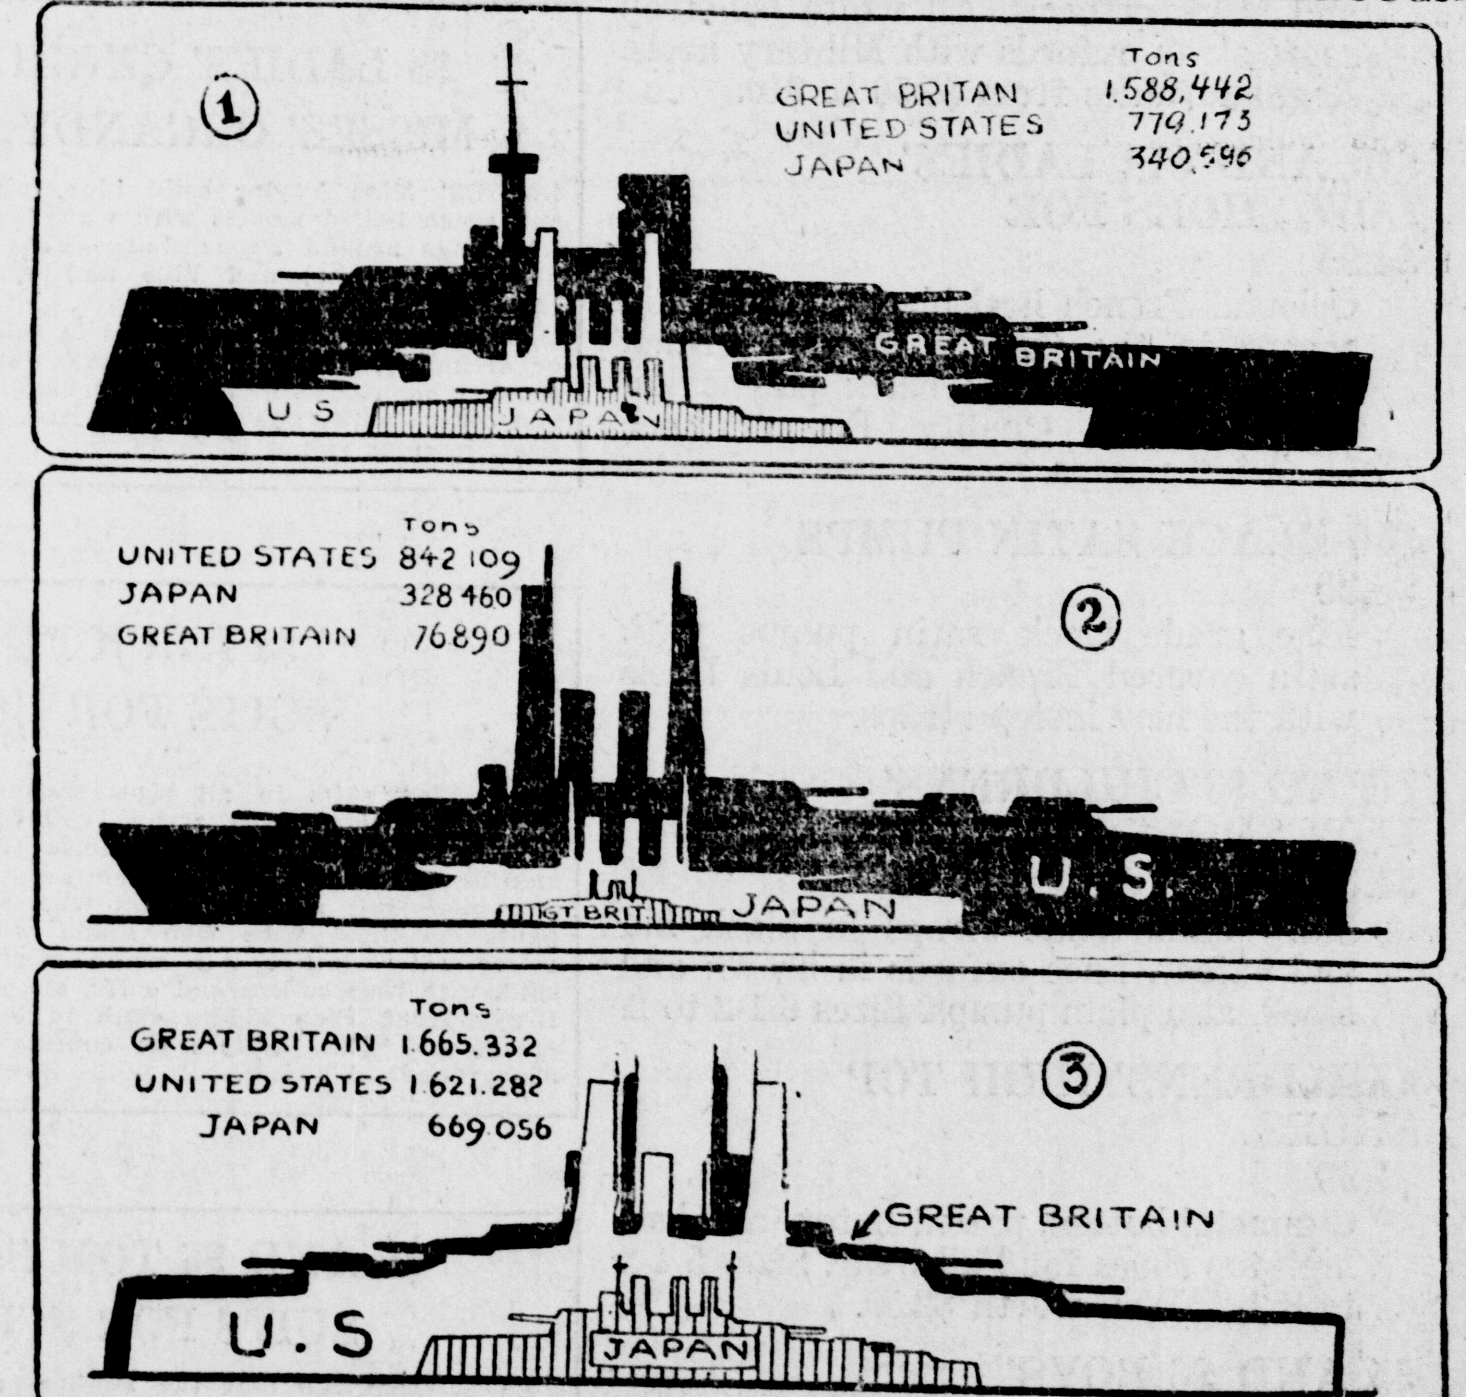

The countless peaks that cover vast stretches of western Canada are wrapped in Indian legends as well as clouds and snow. Many of these are locally familiar, some are widely known, but a rich field awaits the delver into the Indian lore concerning this region. Perhaps another Canadian woman will do for the Canadian Rockies what Pauline Johnston did for Vancouver by collecting the Siwash legends.

Band and its environs are particularly rich in legendary atmosphere. It is safe to say that ninety per cent of the thousands who stop at Banff annually enjoy a boat ride across Lake Minnewanka, a beautiful sheet of water rimmed in by forbidding mountains. The Indians had many legends concerning this lake, the most popular hinging on its name, which means Spirit Waters. The legend runs that an Indian chief was crossing the lake in a canoe when an evil spirit arose from the waters, wrecked the frail craft and carried the chief down into the depths of the lake, from which the body never rose again. Firm belief in this story caused the Indians to shun the lake, but white men laugh at the tale and find these waters attractive for boating, fishing and camping.

Lake Minnewanka is some 15 miles long and between two and three miles wide. A comfortable launch makes the 22-mile trip regularly. At the southern end a stop is made to allow passengers to inspect the scenic marvels, one of which is a gigantic "Hoodoo," which rises like a monument from the back of a rushing torrent, and bears a balanced rock upon its apex. Nearby is an excellent camping site and another is on the north shore opposite the entrance to Aylmer's Canyon, from which it is comparatively easy to reach 10,365 foot Mt. Aylmer.

Lake trout of great size inhabit Minnewanka and prove a magnet sufficient to counter-balance the fears of any superstitious fishermen, as attested by the numbers who stop at the Chalet beside the lake.

GREAT BRITAIN WILL BE FIRST SEA POWER, U. S. CLOSE SECOND, WHEN BUILDING PROGRAMS ARE PUT THROUGH

(1) Diagram showing how the three great naval powers compare at the present time, (2) relative amount of new construction involved in present naval building programs; (3) how the three navies will compare at time present programs are carried to completion.

When the present tremendous building program of the U. S. navy is carried through Uncle Sam's navy will be almost as big as John Bull's, but there will be a difference in the latter's favor of about 44,000 tons. Japan will be a poor third, with a navy less than half the size of that of her next competitor. If the disarmament conference at Washington this fall is successful the naval building programs of the three leading sea powers will no doubt be modified.

1920 COTTON SELLS WELL IN LOCAL POOLS

OKLAHOMA CITY—Local pooling and sale of 1920 cotton has been accomplished at several points in the state with most satisfactory results, according to C. F. Mitchell, specialist in cotton classing for the Bureau of Markets. Mr. Mitchell has been assisting in conducting the sale of these local pools through the co-operation of the Oklahoma Cotton Growers Association.

This service is being rendered in connection with 1920 cotton now on hand. It will be discontinued as soon as the new crop begins to move.

A most satisfactory sale was held at Vian on July 26. This sale is said to have netted the growers a good margin over the local market price. This pool contained 132 bales.

At Meridian a few days later a pool of 138 bales was sold under the same plan at what was declared by a local banker to be $5 per bale more than the growers could have received selling individually.

Under the plan for conducting these pools, the cotton is assembled in lots of 100 bales or more and weighed into a public cotton yard or warehouse. The tickets are placed in the hands of a local banker who has power of attorney on the cotton. The cotton is then classed and a market found agreeable to the attorney.

Sales at points other than those mentioned have been conducted or are scheduled as follows: August 6, Carney; Aug. 9, Waurika; Aug. 11, Lawton; Aug. 13, Guthrie; Aug. 16, Sallisaw; Aug. 19, Lookaba; Aug. 23, Chandler; Aug. 25, Agra; Aug. 27, Warlick and Aug. 29, 30, 31 at points to be determined in Muskogee county.

HOGS THRIVING IN CORN AND PEA FIELDS

Ed Cotton of Maxwell has 140 to 150 acres in corn and peas, in alternate rows on which he is pasturing his drove of hogs. The corn is usually good as a result of the rows being so far apart and the peas are well loaded. The hogs are thriving and his prospects for getting excellent returns are fine.

H. F. Reed, on the road from Ada to Byrd's Mill is likewise fattening his hogs on a similar crop. H. G. Foster, of the Blue Valley farm at Roff is running more than 100 head of hogs in his corn field. With plenty of green stuff, peas and corn the hogs get a balanced ration and gaining accordingly.

"BAT" MASTERSON'S REVENGE ON THE CHEYENNES

One December day in the early seventies a young buffalo hunter down in the Texas Panhandle was busy skinning a buffalo when five Cheyennes of Chief Bear Shield's band rode up, saluted him with a grave "How!" and sat on their ponies idly watching his work. Although the hunter's Sharps rifle was lying some distance away, he was not worried, for the Cheyennes were supposed to be peaceful at that time.

Presently one of the red men dismounted and picked up the Sharps as though to examine it and, as he did so, another reached across and whipped the pistol from the holster in the hunter's belt. Instantly the first Indian struck the white man a murderous blow across the forehead with the rifle and in broken but emphatic English told him to "git." The hunter was outnumbered five to one; he "got."

The victim of the Cheyennes was "Bat" Masterson. William Barclay Masterson was his name, but his success as a buffalo hunter had won him the title of "Bat," as a worthy successor to Baptiste Brown, "Old Bat," a mighty slayer of game in the old days. Masterson reached his camp in safety. That night he rode stealthily into Bear Shield's village and "cut out" 40 of the old chief's ponies. As he worked he came upon another rider engaged in the same occupation. It proved to be Billy Tighman, a fellow buffalo hunter who later became a famous deputy United States marshal.

When in 1874 a war party swept down upon the Adobe Walls, the buffalo hunters' headquarters, some of Bear Shield's warriors rode with it, and one of the defenders of the little stockade was "Bat" Masterson. Then and there he obtained revenge for the blow which the Cheyenne had struck him.

After the Adobe Walls fight, Masterson enlisted as a scout for General Miles and served with him until the southern plains tribes were subdued. A few years later he was elected sheriff of Ford county, Kansas. Dodge city, the county seat, was one of the toughest cowboy towns in the West, but when Masterson resigned in 1881 it was one of the most peaceful. By his courage and his skill he had established a record second only to Wild Bill Hickok as a tamer of "bad men." Then he left the West never to return, and today "Bat" Masterson is a high salaried writer on a New York newspaper.

CHALLENGER FRUSH HAS HUSKY BUILD AND PACKS A KNOCKOUT, RECORDS SHOW

Two glimpses of Danny Frush, which show his husky build and his arms, which carry a mean kick.

Danny Frush, who has signed for a chance at Johnny Kilbane's featherweight title in Cleveland next month, believes that he can knock out the veteran champion just as Danny has a string of the good boys in the division in the past year. Frush is a rugged chap, unusually muscular for his size and packs a mean wallop in his husky arms. "I can take what Johnny has and then get him," Frush has told Tommy McGinty, one of the two promoters of the bout.

RIVER BANKS ALWAYS CHANGING MAN STATES

ALTUS, Aug. 18.—The Red River's course changes with every rise and it really has no regular course tending to show that the only possible bank for the stream would be the southern, or Texas bluff banks, was most of the testimony of Page Beech of Jackson county in the second day's hearing taken here in the court house Tuesday.

Beech who owns 1,400 acres of land on the Red River, came to this country when it, formerly was part of old Greer county, Texas. He has lived in what is now known as Jackson county for thirty-one years. He testified that 60 acres of his land had been cut off by the river during the time he has lived here and that he has seen the unstable land cut off to the Texas side.

During the taking of Beech's testimony, C. M. Cureton, Texas attorney general, in cross examining the witness, sought to question him concerning the testimony of a previous witness, J. A. Chisum, S. P. Freeling, Oklahoma attorney general, who was examining Beech for the state and government, immediately requested Cureton to withdraw his question as to avoid interposing of an objection by Oklahoma and the government. Cureton ordered the question stricken from the evidence.

This was the first instance wherein an objection even had been broached. If either side does object, it merely is written into the record, as F. S. Tyler, United States commissioner, has no jurisdiction as to what shall or shall not go into the record.

W. A. Carrigan and "Dan" Boone attorneys from Wichita Falls, Texas, who have been interested in the Red river case from its outset arrived in Altus Tuesday, and will continue with the party for the remainder of the trip.

ORDER FAVORABLE REPORT FOR FUNDING MEASURE

(By the Associated Press)
WASHINGTON, Aug. 18.—Favorable report on the administration railroad refunding bill was ordered today by the house commerce committee. Republican leaders planned to have the house pass the measure early next week. A committee amendment provides that the act shall in no way affect the proposed government relief for farmers.

Money in Hughes County Cream

The possibilities of Hughes county as a live-stock and dairy center were shown in Holdenville last Saturday when Prothro and Son paid J. M. Durbin $9.07 for 9 gallons of cream. This was the equivalent of almost a half bale of low middling cotton based on recent prices. It is easy to see that there is no comparison between the cost and worry of producing a half a bale of cotton and 9 gallons of cream. It would cost $9 to pick a half bale of cotton after it had been brought through the crab grass and boll weevil periods.

The same day Prothro and Son paid W. H. Griffith $10.20 for 25.5 bushels of corn.—Holdenville Democrat.

GERMANY STILL ABIDES BY ARMISTICE, PHOTOS SHOW

German workmen destroying small arms and helmets.

That Germany is still complying with the armistice terms is shown by these latest photos from that country. The pictures are of great significance, also, as indicating the vastness of Germany's military equipment when the war ended. The work of demolition is still going on three years after the ending of the war. The metal parts of all the destroyed arms are melted and made into peace utensils. Shortage of these tools has handicapped the Germans.

PICTURE OF SOLDIER TUBERCULOSIS CAMP SENT

A panoramic view of Fort Bayard, New Mexico, where between 800 and 1000 former service men are undergoing treatment for tuberculosis, was received in Ada Thursday by Mrs. Orville Snead, head of the Pontotoc county Red Cross. The picture, which is in colors, was sent by Edgar Briscoe, war veteran who was sent there by Mrs. Snead. Briscoe lives in Nowata. The hospital camp is described as a beautiful retreat nestling between protecting hills in the highlands of New Mexico. Scores of former soldiers are regaining health in the delightful surroundings of the camp, Briscoe said.

OHIO CITIZEN GAINS 27 POUNDS

"I was run down and weighed only 121 pounds," said Mr. Geo. Klinker, of Lima, Ohio. "My health was very poor," he continued "as I had rheumatism, catarrh, lead poisoning, stomach trouble and itch for which I had tried numerous medicines without benefit. I was advised to try Mendenhall's Number 40 which I did, having taken six bottles. My appetite improved and I now weigh 148, my usual weight and I feel that I owe my life to it."

"Number 40" is recommended for blood troubles from any cause; chronic constipation, rheumatism, indigestion, stomach and liver troubles, etc. Acts on the liver, removing waste matter from the system, thus cleansing the blood of all impurities and doing away with the need of cathartic pills and tablets. Sold by Gwin & Mays Drug Co.

U. S. NAVY EXPERTS BELIEVE GIANT AIRSHIP ZR-2 WILL CROSS THE ATLANTIC IN NINETY-SIX HOURS

The ZR-2, the hangar at Lakehurst, N. J., which will house it, and Commander L. H. Maxfield.

U. S. naval officers generally and especially those connected with the air service have expressed the belief that when the ZR-2, the great new rigid airship flying the American flag, sets out from Howden, England, late this month on its trip across the Atlantic, a new record in transatlantic flying will be established. They believe the trip will be made in ninety-six hours. Commander L. H. Maxfield, U. S. N., will be in charge of the ZR-2 on its flight from England to Lakehurst, N. J., where an immense hangar has been specially built for it.
